PETITE SIRAH

CACHE CREEK VINEYARDS · LAKE COUNTY

WINEMAKER NOTES

Petite Sirah is grown in other parts of the world, but it is at its best in Lake County! The climate and soil of Lake County is ideal for Petite Sirah, which can often be overbearing when grown in other areas. The minerals and lean soil of Lake County reduce the heaviness of this grape that is often blended with other varietals to “beef up” the final wine. Cache Creek Vineyards grown Petite Sirah expresses the true flavors of this varietal, while providing a velvety and very appealing mouthfeel. Through the use of barrel aging and careful skin contact, we can bring out the best in this delicious and robust grape.

TASTING NOTES

Seductive, concentrated dark berry aromas merge with traces of spicy cedar and vanilla. On the palate, savor a luscious fusion of juicy blackberry and dark ripe cherry, along with mocha, autumn baking spices and hints of black pepper. The solid structure is concealed by the dense, rich flavors that start and finish this focused wine.

Enjoy when serving wild boar backstrap drizzled with a blackberry balsamic reduction, or a Mediterranean shepherd's pie.
